Profile

Since I was 15 years old I have been passionate about creating websites and applications. Despite this precocious passion I had the need to better understand the world around me in a humanistic sense. I had the opportunity to gain a solid professional background and a growth mindset, whose guided me to prioritize honest and transparent communication. I am always hungry for knowledge and I always try to solve situations with flexibility, empathy and firmness. I really enjoy when programming, because I love making the imaginary come true.
